In mobility to Portugal we intend that the teachers know and experience resources that aren't used regularly in our classes. These resources allow you to enlarge your pedagogic knowledges, share experiences, give formation and produce useful pedagogic resources. This time will be divided in three workshops:

1. Micro: bits – to work coding through Microsoft Micro: bits. It's a small programmer that allows you to teach and learn in a easy and fun way.
2. Minecraft – to explore this game as a useful tool to work collaboratively in a virtual environment, using coding items in our classrooms allowing the bridge between the game and the school curriculum.
3. Astro Pi – to explore the Astro Pi and its potentialities in education and in the several subjects. O learn how to use and coding.

At the end of each workshop, the teachers talk about what they have learned, in order to analyse, evaluate and produce new pedagogic resources that can be use in our classrooms with our students improving their learning skills in an engaging and fun environment.

With all the resources will be elaborated an eBook that will be shared and divulged, initially in each partner school and later nationally and internationally, with the entire educational community.
